

Dear Parents/Caregivers

Welcome to your Poetry and Song Read Together Book. We hope you enjoy sharing the things in it with each other.

This book will be brought home on Friday for reading and returned to school on Monday where it will be used throughout the week.

The selected poems and songs will have previously been shared and discussed in class. As you re-read and sing these at home, please find time to discuss special language features, rhythms, patterns and meanings in the text. Some of you may like to come up with some questions to ask each other about the things you read. But most importantly have fun!!!

The more times you visit the poems and songs in the book, the better. You might like to tick the bottom of the page each time you read a poem or song and write the initial of the person who shared them with you.

Happy reading!!!!

Catherine Blewden and Michelle Macintyre
